Student Instructions

High school is a whole different world than elementary or middle school. And there's a lot to look forward to! High school means more freedom. It also comes with more opportunities.

As a high school student, you can expect:

- A wider range of courses
- Lots of extracurriculars to choose from
- More social opportunities
- A variety of school events

It's also a great time to explore your interests. You can do this by getting involved with extracurriculars, or by taking new classes. What opportunities would you like to pursue in high school? It's okay if you're not sure yet, you still have time to decide. You can begin by exploring the high school resources provided by your teacher or school counselor.

- 1 While investigating your high school options consider:
 - What clubs or organizations interest me?
 - What courses am I curious about?
 - What extracurricular or volunteer options do I want to check out?
- 2 Record your discoveries on your Xello About Me profile within the Interests section. Whether it's a club, course, or sports team, the opportunity likely matches an interest you already have or is one you're interested in exploring. Make sure to capture at least 5 interests you hope to further explore in high school.
