Inquiry prompts

- What does it mean to be interested in something?
- What is something you're interested in?
- How can things you're interested in help you pick a job?

Instructions

In this activity, students listen to a brief story about a cow who wants to find a job and use a worksheet to fill in the blanks with missing words.

- 1 Print copies of the Coco the Cow - worksheet for your students.
- 2 Write the missing words from the worksheet on the board (interests, skills, employee, career, business) and have a discussion about what each word means:
 - Interests: Things you like (e.g., "Coco likes grass").
 - Skills: Things you are good at (e.g., "Coco is good at mooing").
 - Employee: Someone who has a job.
- 3 Read the story to your class as they follow along on their worksheets.
- 4 Fill in the blanks together. Ask students which word fits best in each spot and have them copy it from your list on the board or by guiding them to the correct word on the top of their worksheet.

Materials required

- White board and marker

Coco Cow wanted a job!

“What do you like to do?” asked Parker Pig.

“My _____ are walking in the field and eating grass” said Coco.

“What are you good at?” asked Daisy Dog.

“My _____ are mooing and shooping flies with my tail” said Coco, proudly.

“Do you want to own a store and sell things?” asked Hazel Horse.

“No, I do not want to run a _____,” said Coco.

“Then you want to work for someone else!” cried Rex Rooster.

“Yes, I want to be an _____!” said Coco.

Coco was happy. She had a long _____ as a cow ahead of her, working for Farmer Miguel.

Inquiry prompts

- What are examples of different jobs?
- What are some tools workers use in their jobs?

Instructions

In this activity, students brainstorm different jobs for Coco and draw a picture of her doing a new job along with a tool she might use in the job.

- 1 Have students brainstorm different jobs for Coco.
- 2 Ask each student to draw a picture of Coco at one of the jobs along with one tool she might use for it. Use the following examples to help guide students:
 - What if she had decided to be a pilot or a plumber?
 - What would she do in those jobs? What tools would she need to use? What skills would she need?
 - What things do you think pilots are interested in? What about plumbers?
- 3 Compile students' drawings into a book for the classroom and, as a class, create a story about the pictures. You can use the class book for story time, or distribute copies for students to take home and enjoy.

Materials required

- Paper
- Crayons or markers

Artifacts

- Upload a photo of students' completed Coco drawings to the My Files app on their Dpad.
- A classroom book of students' drawings.
